1. CalOptima Health Street Medicine – Nicole Garcia, LMFT, Director of Community Outreach, CalOptima Health

Nicole Garcia provided an overview of CalOptima Health’s Street Medicine Program, which aims to reduce barriers and improve health outcomes for unsheltered members by providing medical care through street outreach and engagement. CalOptima Health’s Street Medicine program currently operates in Garden Grove, Costa Mesa, Anaheim, and Santa Ana, with an additional city collaborative expansion in the works. Services are provided by AltaMed, Healthcare in Action, and Celebrating Life Community Health Center. Nicole Garcia highlighted how the program structure adheres to principles of low barrier, trauma informed care with a comprehensive, whole person approach to care. Peer navigators work with up to 25 members and teams canvas their assigned cities to build rapport in communities and connect with those in need of services. Nicole Garcia reviewed eligibility criteria, as well as program objectives and services. CalOptima Health’s Street Medicine programs have housed 57 individuals since the initial program launch in 2023. Nicole Garcia shared an opportunity available for those with lived experience with the Garden Grove Street Medicine Steering Committee.

2. Homeless Management Information System (HMIS) Client Portal – Erin DeRycke, Director, Data Analytics, 2-1-1 Orange County (211OC) and Felicia Boehringer, CoC Administrator
a. Discuss the potential of the Orange County CoC utilizing an HMIS Client Portal through Bitfocus.

Erin DeRycke shared a new customer portal released by Bitfocus, the HMIS vendor for the Orange County CoC. The portal would give client access to view some of their HMIS data and communicate with participating agencies. Erin DeRycke reviewed the proposed project plan and played a demo of the portal. Erin DeRycke asked for feedback from LEAC members and discussed the potential for an initial pilot release to test the portal with a subpopulation. Erin DeRycke highlighted the benefits such as the ability for clients to easily upload their documents and update their locations or phone numbers quickly and discussed some potential limitations such as increased financial costs for the community and additional workload for program staff who will need to train clients and monitor the portal.

Committee Discussion:

- Robert “Santa Bob” Morse asked about security concerns and noted that from experience more people are comfortable using technology now.
- Deborah Kraft shared that from personal experience, access to the portal would have been helpful when unhoused, due to having dealt with inaccurate or confusing information regarding client records. Deborah Kraft shared that it would help increase client ownership and provider accountability and asked how long information remains active. Deborah Kraft noted that due to changes in service providers, shelters, or programs, there can be issues with continuity of care, which the portal may potentially help resolve.

- Larry “Smitty” Smith noted that participants should already have this information from their caseworkers, and when considering the added costs, does not see a benefit for the community.
- Miranda Mears highlighted that the message feature may help with increasing communication for clients without phones.
- Elizabeth Flores discussed the ability to upload documents, noting that the portal can lower barriers for clients providing documents to their case managers, and emphasized the importance of a system which can show proof that requested documents were provided. Elizabeth Flores also noted that the location update feature is helpful due to people who are unsheltered potentially needing to move with little advanced notice.
- Melissa Welsh shared concerns about the increased cost, as well as replacing staff and removing the human interaction aspect of case management.
- Paul Kaiser feels it would be helpful to keep up with cases if you are tech savvy and may help avoid people falling into inactive status after 90 days of no contact with their case manager and asked if the system could be used to keep people connected to the Coordinated Entry System (CES). Paul Kaiser noted it may also minimize barriers to providing documentation but questioned the effectiveness of this feature for those without phones. Paul Kaiser discussed cost effectiveness, including whether many clients would use the portal and whether it would be used frequently or just on occasion. Paul Kaiser shared concerns about providers maintaining the ability to disconnect clients from the portal after exit and asked what would happen if a former client continued to message a provider they were no longer connected to for services using the portal’s message feature.
- Reha Agar shared that the portal could be helpful, and also noted potential training needs that would arise with implementation. Reha Agar asked about how activity within the portal, specifically for case managers responsible to clients, would be monitored.
- Robert “Santa Bob” Morse noted that people are getting more tech savvy and believes many people would be able to use the portal.
- Nichole Gideon asked if there are any communities already utilizing the portal and how it has worked for them, including any glitches or issues with the system. Nichole Gideon shared from experience that the featuring allowing clients to update their phone numbers would be helpful with maintaining contract due to frequently changing phones and noted the importance of increasing independence. Nichole Gideon also shared concerns about replacing people and limiting human interaction and highlighted the importance of not relying exclusively on the portal and the continued need for clients to maintain autonomy of choice.

3. CoC and General Updates – Felicia Boehringer, CoC Administrator, Office of Care Coordination and LEAC Members

Time (PIT) Count data. Felicia Boehringer provided reminders for June 2026 CoC meetings and the upcoming Same Day Solutions Fair event; and highlighted the upcoming HHAP round 7.

Vice Chair Paul Kaiser provided a recap of the April 8, 2026, CES Steering Committee meeting. Paul Kaiser shared the committee reviewed data for CES enrollments and exits to housing, noting that low housing numbers may be due to limited funding or housing opportunities, and discussed concerns expressed by service providers who are working to get client applications approved by housing authorities and property management, due to barriers such as outstanding debt and low credit scores.

Reha Agar and Elizabeth Flores provided a recap of the May 21, 2026, Service Provider Forum meeting. Elizabeth Flores emphasized the Provider Highlight portion of the meeting.
